SENATE

By FOLIO Staff

The University Senate met Friday, March 8, 1974.

EXTENSION LIBRARY

The Report of the Committee on the Future of the Extension Library was received by the Senate. The committee had studied the library in the context of the Alberta Library Survey, an examination commissioned by the provincial government to determine: to what extent are libraries in Alberta (public, school, college, university, and special) equipped to meet informational, educational, cultural, and recreational needs of all Albertans? and, are libraries prepared to meet the challenge of new materials, growing requests for services, and a broadening concept of involvement in the concerns of their communities?

As a result of the study, the committee has recommended "creation of a Provincial Library Service, housed within The University of Alberta through development of the Extension Library and the Educational Media Division of the Department of Extension, funded by designated provincial grants, and closely related to other provincial library and information systems."

The Provincial Library Service would serve as a central clearing house linking the resources of many libraries through referrals, interlibrary loans, and distribution. It would be placed under the auspices of the Extension Library for a number of reasons:

- (1) The Extension Library has been doing this type of work for more than 60 years.
- (2) The Extension Library is associated with media resources of the Department of Extension and with major resources such as The University of Alberta Library and the School of Library Science.
- (3) Designation of the Extension Library as a Provincial Library Service is likely to cost considerably less than the creation of an entirely new service.
- (4) In contrast to other library authorities in Alberta, the Extension Library is committed to the continuation of mail-order library services which enable it to meet the needs of senior citizens, handicapped persons, and those citizens who live in areas not served by local libraries.

UNIVERSITY PUBLICATIONS

The Senate also received the Report of the Committee to Study University Publications. The purpose of the committee was to assess various publications for their interest and usefulness to the public.

It was the committee's view that the question of publications for general use and interest could not be separated from the broader question of the University's commitment to meaningful extension into the community. Members also discovered, among the 60 departments involved in publishing, a need for a certain degree of centralization to provide funds, clerical resources, and editorial expertise. It was suggested that a revitalized University Press and the existing Publications Office be given the task of fostering publications of interest to the community and of developing effective distribution policies.

Committee members agreed the University would need to develop incentives for staff members to produce publications—especially topical papers—of interest to the community. They recommended:

THAT the Senate of The University of Alberta sponsor a public review of the University Extension function with the potential role of community-oriented publications as an important and integral part of that review, and THAT, in the interim, the Senate Committee report on publications be made available to interested members of the University community for information.

PHYSICAL PLANNING

A subcommittee of the Task Force on Physical Planning evaluated the University's use of and policies on the Edmonton Research Station (116 Street and 68 Avenue) and the West 240. Committee members recommended that the University retain its ownership of both areas. They added, however, that the University should consider certain proposals for specific policy developments. These proposals follow:

- (1) Public Access. We support the principle of increased public access to the West 240 and the University Farm for educational and recreational purposes.
- (2) Farm. In regard to the Farm, we support increased public access to this area (tours, field days, interpretive and display centres, pedestrian and bicycle paths) compatible with the research activities of the Faculty of Agriculture and Forestry. This assumes consultation and approval of the Faculty for all such developments.
- (3) West 240. In regard to the West 240, we support increased use of this area by interested departments for research and demonstration projects (i.e. feed-cropping, botanical plantings, forestry, art and design). Coincident with expanded academic use of this area, we support the development of path systems and educationally-oriented information systems. We recommend the development of this area in a manner consistent with the present low-scale use of the land, providing flexibility for more intensive University use in future. We note the interest of the Parks and Recreation Department of the City of Edmonton in developing a portion of this land.
- (4) Administration. We support the financing and administration of these developments largely distinct from existing departments and faculties. This suggests the designation of some third party University authority for the purposes of administering these proposals.
- (5) Consultation. We support the presentation of these proposals to interested public groups, including immediately affected communities, the City of Edmonton, and the provincial government for discussion.

The task force Subcommittee on the Planning Process presented its report to the Senate. E. A. CHRISTENSON, Chairman, said in his introduction that the report represented many people's views about the physical planning process at the University. The report contains no specific recommendations but does draw attention to certain areas that might benefit, in the opinion of the committee, from a review of planning procedures.

The report drew sharp criticism from W. D. NEAL, Vice-President (Planning and Development), who described it as "a collection of individual complaints" rather than a comprehensive review of the physical planning process. Since the document had not been distributed to members in advance of the meeting, it was agreed that further discussion of the report be deferred to the May meeting of the Senate.

1974 - 75 BUDGET

The Senate Executive Committee reported that it had approved a budget of $44,000 for the 1974-75 academic year.

'UNIVERSITIES ACT' REVIEW

On the recommendation of the Executive Committee, members voted to establish a committee to undertake a review of that section of The Universities Act which pertains to the Senate.

ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS

H. A. MAC NEIL, Chairman of the Task Force on University Entrance Requirements, reviewed for members the action taken by General Faculties Council on the recommendations made by the task force (see FOLIO, January 31 and February 28, 1974).

He also reported that a background paper on enrolment quotas had been prepared for public distribution. The document asks citizens to comment on the following questions:

Establishment of Quotas

- (1) Are the present limitations on enrolment in certain faculties and schools justified in terms of the resources provided to these faculties and schools?
- (2) Is the decision-making process in the establishment of quotas adequate? Should there be more consultation between the University and the provincial government? Considering the needs and resources of the province as a whole, should the government seek to direct the allocation of funds to certain faculties and schools within the University? Should the University's planning autonomy be reduced?
- (3) In the establishment of quotas, how important is the University's concept of itself as an academic community, as reflected in the academic plan?
- (4) Should the enrolment ceilings in faculties and schools be related more to the demand for admission from students, or to the manpower needs of society?
- (5) On the present basis of highly subsidized post-secondary education, should students who wish to undertake more expensive programs be required to pay a higher proportion of the costs through increased tuition? Could facilities in quota faculties and schools be expanded by permitting students to "purchase" a right to admission?

Criteria for Selection of Students

- (1) Should admission to quota faculties and schools favor Alberta residents and, if so, to what degree? Should Canadian citizens be given preference over landed immigrants? Should some places be reserved for Canadians from other provinces, or students from other countries (perhaps on the basis of exchange programs)? Should the University receive special grants from government to admit students from developing countries?
- (2) Does restriction to Alberta students reduce the quality of the University? Is it morally defensible? Is it legal? Does public opinion "require" it?
- (3) Should it become mandatory that the sex of the applicant be excluded from information available to selection committees?
- (4) Should distinctions on the basis of age be permitted in some cases?
- (5) Should personal characteristics and circumstances be weighed more heavily? If so, how and by whom? In general, should "subjective evaluations" be more, or less, important?
- (6) Should all characteristics relevant for admission to quota faculties and schools be weighted numerically, and selection done by computer as is done elsewhere?
- (7) What should be the policies for the admission of mature, native, and part-time students?
- (8) What other questions are raised by limitations on enrolment at The University of Alberta, or at Alberta universities?

ACADEMIC PLANNING

Members received the Report of the Task Force on Academic Planning, which had been set up to discover ways in which the public could more directly contribute to academic planning at the University. As a result of the study, task force members recommended that their task force be disbanded and that, in its place, a standing committee of the Senate be created for a trial period of two years. The new body will be known as the Senate Academic Liaison Committee. It will have four members from the Senate, and up to four other members who may be non-members of the Senate. Membership will be by election of the Senate.

Members also approved a motion "THAT the Senate appoint one of its members to sit on the Academic Development Committee as an observer and that this representative be made a member of the Senate Academic Liaison Committee."

INDIAN EDUCATION CENTRE

JOE COUTURE of the Indian Association of Alberta appeared before the Senate to discuss further the Alberta Indian Education Centre

(AIEC) which was proposed at the November 23, 1973 meeting of the Senate. Dr. Couture's proposal contained two major suggestions to the University:

(1) We urge this Senate to exercise its influence towards establishment of a committee with equal representation from both General Faculties Council of The University of Alberta and from the Alberta Indian Education Centre, to consider and effectuate ways and means by which this University and the AIEC can jointly best serve the Indian people, and this in light of Elders' directives. As one of the means to be evaluated, we would suggest exploring the possibility of establishing the AIEC as an integral part of the University since the precedent for an on-campus bicultural/bilingual presence has been established.

(2) We also urge the University to make its physical and personnel resources significantly available, under the direction of the AIEC, to Indian communities. Allied to the latter suggestion is to promote the involvement of University staff in the conduct of useful research and in the development of innovative and relevant programs, and this in direct co-operation with the AIEC.

UNIVERSITY LIBRARY

The Senate agreed to establish a special committee to look into alternative methods of financing book acquisitions in the University Library. At present, the acquisition fund is included in the operating budget.

H. A. HARGREAVES, Associate Professor of English, suggested that the fund be independently endowed with approximately $20 million which could be invested and managed by a five-member board of directors. The actual administration of the book fund would not change. Professor Hargreaves said the capital should be obtained from the provincial government rather than through a fund-raising campaign.

VANCOUVER PLAYWRIGHT WINS COMPETITION

The Injured, a drama by TOM GRAINGER of Vancouver, has been selected as the winner of the first annual Clifford E. Lee national playwriting competition. As recipient of the Lee Award, Mr. Grainger will be playwright-in-residence at the Department of Drama here during rehearsal and performance of his play. Performance dates have not yet been determined.

Announcement of the judges' selection was made by BEN TARVER, Professor of Drama at this University and administrator of the Lee Award. The competition was conducted under the auspices of the Department of Drama and has received substantial support from the Canada Council and the Clifford E. Lee Foundation. Entries this year were judged by JOHN NEVILLE, Artistic Director of the Citadel Theatre; GORDON PEACOCK, Professor of Drama; and WALTER JOHNS, Professor Emeritus of Classics and former President of the University.

The Lee Award is modelled after New York City's Stanley Drama Award, for which Professor Tarver was a judge for three years while he was active in the professional theatre on and off Broadway. This is the first year the Lee Award has been given.

Mr. Grainger's play was chosen from 58 entries which had been narrowed down to a "short list" of six finalists. The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, which will produce Professor Tarver's Cross and Cockade next year as part of a series, has asked to see all the finalists. In addition to The Injured, they are: Power in the Blood by John Murrell of Calgary; Mary Tudor (playwright's name not available) sponsored by Winston MacDonald of Theatre Winnipeg; And All the King's Horses by Rod Hayward of Dollard des Ormeaux, Quebec; Passage by Steve Petch of Waterloo, Ontario; and We're All Here Except Mike Casey's Horse by Cam Hubert of Nanaimo, British Columbia.

'MEDLINE' SERVICE BEGINS

MEDLINE is an on-line computerized bibliographic service provided by the Medical Sciences Library. The MEDLINE data base includes all of the printed Index Medicus citations from 1972 to date plus the Index to Dental Literature and the International Nursing Index. By "conversing" with a computer via a terminal it is possible to retrieve a list of journal references on a specified subject. By searching other files it is also possible to retrieve journal articles back to, and including, 1970. Monthly updates of searches are also available. Such requests may be directed to any of the Medical Sciences librarians, all of whom have been trained in the MEDLINE Search Strategy.

Service commenced: March 18, 1974.
Terminal location: Medical Sciences Library, Cameron Library (fifth floor). Charges: two free searches allowed per faculty member, graduate student, or physician until April 30, 1974. From May 1, charges will be $10 per retrospective search; $5 per monthly update.

Further information may be obtained from the Medical Sciences Library, telephone 432-3791 or 432-5154.

RIVER VALLEY CAUCUS

Edmontonians who wish to make known their views regarding the future use of the river valley and ravines in the city have been invited, by the Department of Extension, to the "People's policy caucus on the river valley." The four-day public participation project will be held from 6:30 to 10:30 p.m. on March 27, 28, and 29, and from 10:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. on March 30. All meetings will be held at St. Joseph's College, 89 Avenue and 114 Street.

The policies and graphic plans drawn up by participants will be presented to City Council and the provincial government. The forum coincides with the city administration's consideration of a number of proposals related to the use of river valley land, including: a trade fair and cultural centre; a proposed six-lane 105 Street Bridge affecting Queen Elizabeth and Walterdale Parks; the recently-announced Terwillegar Park; and the future of river valley neighborhoods such as Riverdale, Rosedale, and Laurier Heights.

Participants are encouraged to register in advance. There is no registration fee. Details of the events scheduled can be obtained from GERALD WRIGHT, Department of Extension, Corbett Hall, telephone 432-5068.

CANADA COUNCIL FELLOWSHIPS

Canada Council fellowships with a total value of $3.2 million have been awarded in the humanities and social sciences for the coming academic year. Twenty-seven of the 366 awarded went to Albertans.

The fellowships are of two types. The Leave Fellowship is given to faculty members of Canadian universities to undertake up to a year's independent research or study while on sabbatical leave. It is intended to help make up the difference between the award-holder's normal salary and the partial salary he receives while on leave. The Research Fellowship is awarded to scholars with higher degrees who are working full-time on a specific research project while on leave without pay. Both types are worth up to $9,000, and travel and research expenses are provided if needed.

As the major project of their last year in Visual Communication Design, senior students were asked to prepare an exhibition of their work at the University. It was their responsibility to choose the form and content of the exhibition, to handle the costing and ordering of supplies, and to find an agreeable solution to any problems that arose. The result of their work is "opening doors" at the University Art Gallery and Museum, Ring House Number One. The exhibition continues through March 25 and is open to the public weekdays from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

on March 21 in the Mechanical Engineering Building, room 4-1.

in private and public organizations who wish to know more about environmental conditions in northern Canada in order to make better decisions and recommendations on matters affecting the North.

Four major subject areas form the basis of the School's interdisciplinary curriculum—people, geography and geology, ecology, and engineering. In addition to classroom sessions there will be a number of field trips into the Mackenzie Delta, along the Inuvik and Mackenzie Highway, and to Tuktoyaktuk, Fort McPherson, and Aklavik.

Participants will live in the Department of Education's residential centre, Grollier Hall. The course fee, inclusive of instructional materials, lodging, meals, and field trips, is $960. Transportation to and from Inuvik is an extra $240 for the group flight.
